

With neither `override Lyrics.LyricText.X-extent` nor `override BarLine.X-extent` (lines commented out):

1. To you be - fore the close of light, Cre - a - tor of all things, we pray: Be our preferred different note spacing pro - tec - tor, keep us safe in your un - fail - ing clem - en - cy. 2. Grant us the grace of health and strength, re - new our warmth and joy of life; and let your ra - diant light dis - pel the dread - ed darkness of the night.

The image shows a musical score with four staves. The first staff contains the lyrics "1. To you be - fore the close of light, Cre - a - tor of all things, we pray: Be our". The second staff continues with "pro - tec - tor, keep us safe in your un - fail - ing clem - en - cy. 2. Grant us the grace". The third staff continues with "of health and strength, re - new our warmth and joy of life; and let your ra - diant". The fourth staff ends with "light dis - pel the dread - ed darkness of the night." There are several annotations: a blue circle around a pair of notes on the first staff, and several red circles around pairs of notes on the first, second, and third staves. The word "preferred" is written in blue italics, and "different note spacing" is written in red italics.